

Meet the rest of the family: Dräger Consumables and Accessories.

As your Specialist in Critical Care, Dräger offers a comprehensive line of consumables and accessories specially designed to help your anesthesia devices maintain optimal performance. Our accessories have all been tested and validated with the Dräger Atlan family to promote efficient interaction between device and accessory. By providing complete system solutions, we focus on increasing patient safety and reducing cost of ownership.

The displayed products for this device are a representative selection of all available Dräger accessories and consumables. For further information or options, please contact your Dräger sales representative.

* Not all devices and accessories are available worldwide.
